

ATLANTA, GA

INTRODUCING DC BLOX ATLANTA. Located in the Brookhaven area, DC BLOX's Atlanta data center delivers safe, convenient access for telecommunications, media and technology companies. Just 1MS away from Digital Realty's ATL1 IX at 56 Marietta, it's a low overhead, colocation node on our high speed optical network.

▲ BUILDING SPECIFICATIONS

- 3,350 sq. ft. facility
- Pre-configured expansion for a total of 6,470 sq. ft.
- Modular, self-contained BLOX Pods on reinforced concrete slab
- 42U secure server racks
- Loading dock with video surveillance

▲ POWER

- Network underground utility power
- Two 1 MW generators
- 36 hours on-site fuel storage
- Redundant 500kVA UPS Modules

▲ SECURITY

- 24x7x365 manned security desk
- 8am to 5pm manned lobby and on-site personnel
- Badge, biometric and 3-factor access control
- Secure mantrap
- CCTV at building perimeter, data center and Pod
- FM-200 gas fire suppression

▲ COOLING

- Redundant air-cooled chillers
- Liebert cold aisle containment

▲ CONNECTIVITY

- Carrier-neutral
- Meshed 8.8Tbs private optical network connectivity to ATL1 IX at 56 Marietta
- Redundant carrier and network distribution rooms

Located less than 20 miles from Hartsfield Jackson International airport and 5 miles from popular Buckhead amenities

Modular BLOX Pods dissipate 50% more heat using the same energy as conventional raised floor and enable superior PUE

Economical access to downtown Atlanta connectivity and colocation without carrier hotel pricing

Highly connected to media pre-and post-production capabilities